The data are contained in "nat.txt" which is a comma separated ascii flat file. The variable labels are contained in the first row of the file.

Variables:

Fipsno (State fips*1000)+County fips

South Counties in the southern region, scored 1, include: Washington D.C., Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware. Other counties are scored zero.

hr Homicide Rate per 100,000 (numerator is a 3 year average centered on the decennial census year, e.g., 1959, 1960, and 1961). Individual deaths are aggregated to the county level according to the decedent's county of residence.

hc Homicide count (3 year average centered on decennial census year, e.g., 1959, 1960, and 1961). Individual deaths are aggregated to the county level according to the decedent's county of residence.

po Population of each county for the decennial census year

rd Resource Deprivation/Affluence Component (principal component composed of percent black, log of median family income, gini index of family income inequality, percent of families female headed (percent of families single parent for 1960), and percent of families below poverty (percent of families below $3,000 for 1960)) (See Land et al., 1990)

Combined county groups:

Due to changing county boundaries between 1959 and 1991, certain counties were merged in accordance with the Horan and Hargis county template (Horan and Hargis, 1995). Others were merged because certain data sources combined counties in a particular way. Below is a list of such counties and their aggregated "Fipsno" as contained in the data file.
